Day Camp on the Farm for Youth with Diabetes

Summer Day Camps for Youth With Diabetes

Farrel-McWhirter is hosting the 4th Annual Day Camp on the Farm for Youth with Diabetes. This camp combines fun on the farm with education for youth who have diabetes. A staff member who understands the challenges of living with diabetes on a daily basis designed this program. Activities include but are not limited to feeding farm animals, nature projects, hayrides, learning how to manage diabetes in conjunction with recreation, how to build a healthy lifestyle, and making friends with other campers that understand the challenges of being diabetic. This is not a camp managed by medical experts, but rather persons that understand what it is like to grow up with Type I Diabetes. Additionally, we are offering a chance to spend the night (parent participation required) at Farrel-McWhirter Park! Dress for the weather and for being on the farm. Program letter mailed prior to camp. Instr: Sarah Mulder. Loc: Farrel-McWhirter Park Operations Building. Fee: $130R/$156N.

Day Camp

Counselor-In-Training Program

Do you enjoy working with kids? Did you love going to camp when you were younger, but now you're just a little too old to attend? Have you ever thought about being a camp counselor, only to learn you don't meet the minimum age requirement? Look no further, the Counselor-In-Training (CIT) Program is for you!

Designed to help prepare young adults for their first REAL job, the CIT Program offers valuable leadership opportunities and work experience. Trained CITs will provide assistance for Camp Counselors and learn to work with children in a day camp setting.

After completing the CIT Program participants are eligible to sign up for weeklong sessions at either Farrel-McWhirter Park or the Old Redmond Schoolhouse Community Center (ORSCC) Day Camps.

Farrel-McWhirter helpers must be 13 years of age or older to work with campers ages 3 to 9. ORSCC helpers must be 15 years of age or older to work with campers ages 6 to 12.

CIT application packets will be available starting Monday, April 5, 2004. Contact Cindy Johnson at cjohnson@redmond.gov or 425-556-2393 for more information or to request a packet.

OFH Teen Center

The Old Fire House Teen Center is THE place for Redmond youth ages 13-19. We have a photo developing studio, pool tables, skate elements, ping-pong, and computer games available whenever we are open. We also offer structured activities daily, such as field trips, artist workshops, and much more (for a calendar of activities email jpowell@redmond.gov). We also have a free Y.E.S. counselor every evening except Fridays. You can drop in and check out our facility for free on Wednesday & Thursday 3-9pm, and Saturday 3-11pm.

On Fridays the teen center is transformed into a live music venue, featuring both up-and-coming teen eastside bands as well as popular regional recording artists with variety of music styles from Hardcore to Hip-Hop. Friday shows start at 8pm and usually cost $5.

Hey teen musicians! Come to Band Pool on the second Wednesday of every month at 4pm. Band pool provides young Eastside musicians with the resources to network with their peers and find new opportunities to play their music.

Four Alarm is back! Our summer concert series runs June-September with free acoustic performances every Wednesday evening at 7:00pm in our courtyard. Stop by at 6pm for our free Teen Feed dinner and stick around for an evening of musical entertainment provided by some of the most talented singer/songwriters in the Puget Sound area. Be sure to check out our monthly calendar for show listings.

The Old Fire House's state-of-the-art Media Lab offers recording sessions and workshops in audio and video engineering. We also open up the studio once a week so teens can drop in and explore and create for free. Be sure to check out our website for class schedules or call 425-556-2371 for more information.

To learn more about the Old Fire House stop by at 16510 NE 79 St. Redmond, visit our website at <http://www.redmond.gov/insidacityhall/parksrec/teens/teens.asp> or give us a call at 425-556-2370.
